SUMMARY.

Japanese cruisers, eastwards of Port Arthur, were engaged to the bombarders on Thursday, the effect of their shells on the inner harbour, then aiding the gunners.

Only four men were rescued from the burning ship, and it is surmised that 40 jumped overboard and were drowned.

Japanese cruisers destroyed the signal station and the mine depot near Dairei on Thursday.

The "Daily Mail" war correspondent, F. A. MacKenzie, had many things to say at Chefoo, but nothing falling on him.

A wounded Russian sailor had 165 steel splinters in his body. They were located with difficulty.

Baron Sasekawa, who is Japan's plenipotentiary to Europe, has been interviewed in London, and is to be present at the Conference.

Japan deserves Manduria to remain an integral part of China.

The future of the Manduria railway would depend on circumstances. If Japan succeeded it would be useless to Russia for military purposes.

Japan would do her war as that she would peace for at least some decades.

A Russian telegram from Port Arthur despatched that the port has been abandoned.

The Japanese captain in charge of the steamer Souliu states he had never heard of any order to abandon the port, but for the deadly fire of this Russian fort.

Japanese Government bonds are quoted at 90 to 91 per cent. above London quotations.

The King's Bench has awarded damages against the New Zealand shipping Company for not providing the stipulated temperature of a ship's hold.

Two young bands in Chicago have been sentenced to death. One aged 22, admitted killing 22 and wounded 17 persons.

Lord Kimberley, speaking at Newcastle-on-Tyne, said the dissolution of Parliament could not be delayed.

Relativists and Chamberlainites had both agreed to oppose free-trade candidates. Liberals should sympathise with Unionists, who were like a battle machine in a storm.

As to foreign and colonial policy, needful changes would be gently introduced. The Empire could be kept together without a protective tariff.

If Chamberlainites were wanted, British colonial delegates could create it, never a battle without any great political campaign.

The Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs believes the Somaliland campaign will shortly be advantageous.

The Kashkeff Jewish massacre trials have involved 26 persons, 14 of whom are short terms.

By a police raid on a Lambeth engineer's shop a complete and scientific plant for cotton and important arrests were made.

Mr. Chamberlain is in good health, and is returning home.

At the wool sales bidding was brisk. Crossbreds were very firm, but merinos were weak.

The Aramec was picked up by a search party, and was towed into Sydney Bay, Maryborough. She is afloat in six fathoms.

Five of the boats have reached land, and there is some doubt as to whether there was a wreck.

It would appear that all the passengers and crew accounted for, but final details are not to hand.

Some of the boats were in great peril. On one a man went mad. He jumped overboard and was drowned.

When the captain asked for men to stand by him on board eight volunteered to remain.

The party of 12 who had been on board.

Mr. Kitchener stated that the Government is going to show that whatever charges are made against it, no charge of corruption could stand.

Captain Neitzenstein found that on the Connaught a good music in the parks and squares had a reforming influence on the minds and manners of the populace.

A case heard in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday disclosed some interesting dealings with money-lenders.

The police are continuing the crusade against Sunday sellers of fruit, &c., but it is said shopkeepers can afford to pay the small fine imposed from time to time.

Captain Neitzenstein, Inspector-General of Prisons, who received a favourable award, has addressed a letter to the Attorney-General, suggesting improvements.

He would have exhaustive classification of male and female prisoners, and segregation as far as possible, with grading of gaols and special treatment of offenders.

At the present the best training of junior workers was the "corresponding school" as an auxiliary to education were discussed.

Sir William Lyne, speaking at Dundee, said the choice of a constituency was narrowed down to two, and Dundee had the best.

Mr. Philip Fysh invested Mr. James Conroy, a very old postal officer, with the Imperial service medal yesterday. There was a large departmental gathering.

The Tasmanian Parliament was adjourned yesterday, and the session was adjourned to Monday, 14, Crescembene.

New regulations provide that persons visiting gaols merely out of curiosity will not be permitted to see any of the prisoners.

England won the match against South Australia, making 184, with the loss of one wicket.

The President of the British Medical Association in New Zealand suggests the building of annexes to hospitals for the voluntary use of those who feel unable to approach the medical profession.

The N.Z. Football Association offered the services of the game of the gate money if it would extend the visit of the English team to the island colony.

Additional particulars relative to the distribution of money have been issued.

REFORM OF PARLIAMENT.

RE-DISTRIBUTION OF SEATS.

DESCRIPTION OF CONSTITUENCIES.

REDUCTION OF MEMBERS.

GROUP MAPS ISSUED.

PROGRESS OF THE REDISTRIBUTION.

Members of Parliament have had an anxious time during the past few days. For weeks large numbers of them have haunted the offices of the Electoral Commission at the Public Works Department with much forebodings as to the wiping out of constituencies. The climax was reached in the case of a dozen on Monday. Yesterday the issue of a further series of four maps, covering 18 new constituencies, cleared the way for a consideration of their prospects by two dozen members. Already a few members candidly declared that they are "out of it." A few have hopes of winning seats in what must be a general scramble. Others, of course, have safe seats. On the whole, members accept the situation with good grace, those who are doomed adopting an air of patient resignation as they shortly will miss them and their carpet bags.

As the maps are now issued, they simply bear numbers, and not names. The work of naming the electorates will be done when the redistribution is finally completed, after the 21 days allowed for objections have passed over, and the objections have been dealt with. Each map contains a group of electorates marked alphabetically. So far as they have been published, the new electorates, as arranged in groups, are as follow:

GROUP "A."

This group deals with the far north-eastern portion of the State. The extreme northern boundary Point Danger, with the southern boundary at Camden Haven. It comprises seven electorates.

No. 1 electorate comprises the whole of the present Ballina electorate and parts of the present Lismore, Richmond, and Tweed electorates.

No. 2 electorate embraces parts of the present Lismore and Tweed electorates.

No. 3 electorate comprises the whole of the present Tenterfield electorate, and part of the present Richmond electorate.

No. 4 electorate includes the whole of the present Glen Innes electorate, and part of the present Inverell electorate.

No. 5 electorate consists of the whole of the present Grafton electorate, and parts of the present Clarence and Raleigh electorates.

No. 6 electorate comprises parts of the present Clarence and Raleigh electorates.

No. 7 electorate embraces the whole of the present Armidale electorate, and part of the present Uralla-Walcha electorate.

GROUP "B."

The north-central portion of the State is dealt with in group "B."

No. 8 comprises the whole of the present Storey and part of the present Inverell electorates.

No. 9 comprises parts of the present Gunnedah and Barwon electorates.

No. 10 comprises parts of the present Gunnedah, Quirindi, and Wellington electorates.

No. 11 comprises the whole of the present Tamworth and part of the present Quirindi electorates.

GROUP "C."

In group "C" No. 14 comprises the whole of the present Narrabri and parts of the present Gunnedah and Barwon electorates.

No. 15 comprises the whole of the present Coonamble and part of the present Dubbo electorates.

GROUP "D."

Group "D" comprises the coastal districts from Broken Bay to Bellinger extending westward as far as Dubbo. It includes six new electorates.

No. 12 comprises the whole of the present Hastings-Macleay electorate and part of the present Manning electorate.

No. 13 comprises parts of the present Manning and Gloucester electorates.

No. 14 comprises parts of the present Robertson and Rylands electorates.

No. 21 comprises the whole of the present Singleton electorate and parts of the present Northumberland, Robertson, and Rylands electorates.

No. 22 comprises the whole of the present Durham electorate and part of the present Gloucester electorate.

No. 23 comprises parts of the present East Maitland, West Maitland, Northumberland, and Wallsend electorates.

GROUP "E."

The south-eastern corner of the State is shown in "Group E," comprising six electorates.

No. 42 comprises parts of the present Gunnedah, Murrumbidgee, Wagga Wagga, and Young electorates.

No. 43 comprises parts of the present Hay, Murrumbidgee, and Wagga Wagga electorates.

No. 44 comprises the whole of the present Tamworth and part of the present Gundagai electorate.

No. 45 comprises parts of the present Albury and Murray electorates.

No. 46 comprises parts of the present Albury, Murray, and Murray electorates.

No. 47 comprises the whole of the present Deniliquin and part of the present Murray electorates.

GROUP "F."

This group deals with the major portion of the Western Lands Division. Broken Hill electorates have been divided into two new electorates. The electorates dealt with in this group consist of Cobber, Willemina, Lachlan, Condobolin, Barwon, Wentworth, Hay, and Bourke, and embrace nearly one-half of the State.

No. 48 electorate comprises the whole of the present Cobar and parts of the present Willemina, Lachlan, Condobolin, and Barwon electorates.

No. 49 electorate embraces the whole of the present Wentworth and parts of the present Barwon and Willemina electorates.

The township of Hay, Bourke, and Hilltop are now added to what may possibly be named the Wentworth electorate, as it constitutes the greater portion of the new electorate. The greater portion of the township of Broken Hill has been formed into a new electorate. Formerly it comprised parts of the two electorates—namely, Alura and Sturt. Now a portion of the Alura electorate has been added to the whole of the Sturt electorate. All the surrounding population outside Broken Hill, together with a small area of the Alura electorate on the south-western end of the township, forms another electorate.

whole of the present Sturt and part of Alura electorates.

GROUP "G."

This map shows the town of Broken Hill is greater than is possible in Group H. The town electorate is designated No. 50, and is bounded on the north-west by Brown-street, thence by Iodide-street, thence by Main-street, and thence on the south-west by Gypsum-street, thence to the north-eastern corner connecting with Brown-street. Strips to the north-east of Iodide street and the south-west of Gypsum-street belong to the larger district electorate, No. 51.

GROUP "H."

This group includes two new electorates, numbered respectively 52 and 53.

No. 52 electorate comprises the whole of the present Newcastle East, and part of the present Newcastle West electorates.

No. 53 electorate comprises the whole of the present Wickham and parts of the present Waratah and Newcastle West electorates.

GROUP "I."

At present the County of Northumberland, which previously comprised the Newcastle and Hunter river districts as far as Singleton, consists of the following electorates:—Kabibah, East Maitland, West Maitland, Newcastle East, Newcastle West, Waratah, Wallsend and Herne.

Under the new arrangement these eight old electorates are now formed into five electorates, designated by numbers as follows:—42, 44, 45, 46, 47. Electorates 42 and 44 comprise parts of the present East Maitland and West Maitland electorates.

No. 45 embraces portions of the present East Maitland, Wallsend, and Waratah electorates.

No. 46 comprises the whole of the present electorate of Kabibah, and portions of the present Newcastle West and Waratah electorates.

No. 47 comprises the whole of the present electorate of Kabibah, and portions of the present Newcastle West and Waratah electorates.

GROUP "T."

The climax was reached in the case of a dozen on Monday. Yesterday the issue of a further series of four maps, covering 18 new constituencies, cleared the way for a consideration of their prospects by two dozen members. Already a few members candidly declared that they are "out of it." A few have hopes of winning seats in what must be a general scramble. Others, of course, have safe seats.

No. 6 electorate comprises parts of the present Clarence and Raleigh electorates.

No. 7 electorate embraces the whole of the present Armidale electorate, and part of the present Uralla-Walcha electorate.

GROUP "B."

The north-central portion of the State is dealt with in group "B."

No. 8 comprises the whole of the present Storey and part of the present Inverell electorates.

No. 9 comprises parts of the present Gunnedah and Barwon electorates.

No. 10 comprises parts of the present Gunnedah, Quirindi, and Wellington electorates.

No. 11 comprises the whole of the present Tamworth and part of the present Quirindi electorates.

GROUP "C."

In group "C" No. 14 comprises the whole of the present Narrabri and parts of the present Gunnedah and Barwon electorates.

No. 15 comprises the whole of the present Coonamble and part of the present Dubbo electorates.

GROUP "D."

Group "D" comprises the coastal districts from Broken Bay to Bellinger extending westward as far as Dubbo. It includes six new electorates.

No. 12 comprises the whole of the present Hastings-Macleay electorate and part of the present Manning electorate.

No. 13 comprises parts of the present Manning and Gloucester electorates.

No. 14 comprises parts of the present Robertson and Rylands electorates.

No. 21 comprises the whole of the present Singleton electorate and parts of the present Northumberland, Robertson, and Rylands electorates.

No. 22 comprises the whole of the present Durham electorate and part of the present Gloucester electorate.

No. 23 comprises parts of the present East Maitland, West Maitland, Northumberland, and Wallsend electorates.

GROUP "E."

The south-eastern corner of the State is shown in "Group E," comprising six electorates.

No. 42 comprises parts of the present Gunnedah, Murrumbidgee, Wagga Wagga, and Young electorates.

No. 43 comprises parts of the present Hay, Murrumbidgee, and Wagga Wagga electorates.

No. 44 comprises the whole of the present Tamworth and part of the present Gundagai electorate.

No. 45 comprises parts of the present Albury and Murray electorates.

No. 46 comprises parts of the present Albury, Murray, and Murray electorates.

No. 47 comprises the whole of the present Deniliquin and part of the present Murray electorates.

GROUP "F."

This group deals with the major portion of the Western Lands Division. Broken Hill electorates have been divided into two new electorates. The electorates dealt with in this group consist of Cobber, Willemina, Lachlan, Condobolin, Barwon, Wentworth, Hay, and Bourke, and embrace nearly one-half of the State.

No. 48 electorate comprises the whole of the present Cobar and parts of the present Willemina, Lachlan, Condobolin, and Barwon electorates.

No. 49 electorate embraces the whole of the present Wentworth and parts of the present Barwon and Willemina electorates.

The township of Hay, Bourke, and Hilltop are now added to what may possibly be named the Wentworth electorate, as it constitutes the greater portion of the new electorate. The greater portion of the township of Broken Hill has been formed into a new electorate.

Formerly it comprised parts of the two electorates—namely, Alura and Sturt. Now a portion of the Alura electorate has been added to the whole of the Sturt electorate. All the surrounding population outside Broken Hill, together with a small area of the Alura electorate on the south-western end of the township, forms another electorate.

This map shows the town of Broken Hill is greater than is possible in Group H. The town electorate is designated No. 50, and is bounded on the north-west by Brown-street, thence by Iodide-street, thence by Main-street, and thence on the south-east by Gypsum-street, thence to the north-eastern corner connecting with Brown-street. Strips to the north-east of Iodide street and the south-west of Gypsum-street belong to the larger district electorate, No. 51.

GROUP "G."

This group includes two new electorates, numbered respectively 52 and 53.

No. 52 electorate comprises the whole of the present Newcastle East, and part of the present Newcastle West electorates.

No. 53 electorate comprises the whole of the present Wickham and parts of the present Waratah and Newcastle West electorates.

GROUP "H."

At present the County of Northumberland, which previously comprised the Newcastle and Hunter river districts as far as Singleton, consists of the following electorates:—Kabibah, East Maitland, West Maitland, Newcastle East, Newcastle West, Waratah, Wallsend and Herne.

Under the new arrangement these eight old electorates are now formed into five electorates, designated by numbers as follows:—42, 44, 45, 46, 47. Electorates 42 and 44 comprise parts of the present East Maitland and West Maitland electorates.

No. 45 embraces portions of the present East Maitland, Wallsend, and Waratah electorates.

No. 46 comprises the whole of the present electorate of Kabibah, and portions of the present Newcastle West and Waratah electorates.

GROUP "T."

The climax was reached in the case of a dozen on Monday. Yesterday the issue of a further series of four maps, covering 18 new constituencies, cleared the way for a consideration of their prospects by two dozen members. Already a few members candidly declared that they are "out of it." A few have hopes of winning seats in what must be a general scramble. Others, of course, have safe seats.

On the whole, members accept the situation with good grace, those who are doomed adopting an air of patient resignation as they shortly will miss them and their carpet bags.

As the maps are now issued, they simply bear numbers, and not names. The work of naming the electorates will be done when the redistribution is finally completed, after the 21 days allowed for objections have passed over, and the objections have been dealt with. Each map contains a group of electorates marked alphabetically. So far as they have been published, the new electorates, as arranged in groups, are as follow:

GROUP "A."

This group deals with the far north-eastern portion of the State. The extreme northern boundary Point Danger, with the southern boundary at Camden Haven. It comprises seven electorates.

No. 1 electorate comprises the whole of the present Ballina electorate and parts of the present Lismore, Richmond, and Tweed electorates.

No. 2 electorate embraces parts of the present Lismore and Tweed electorates.

No. 3 electorate comprises the whole of the present Tenterfield electorate, and part of the present Richmond electorate.

No. 4 electorate includes the whole of the present Glen Innes electorate, and part of the present Inverell electorate.

No. 5 electorate consists of the whole of the present Grafton electorate, and parts of

RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR.

PORT ARTHUR BATTLES.

BOMBARDMENT UNDER SHELTER.

DIRECTED BY CRUISERS

JAPAN AND MANCHURIA.

LONDON, March 15.

The cruisers which were eastwards of Port Arthur on Thursday morning during the bombardment by the warships under the shelter of Liao-ti-shan signalled to the bombardiers the effect of their shells in the inner harbour. The suggestion helped the gunners in directing the fire.

The cruisers of the Japanese squadron in their bombardment of Sam-shan-tao, near Dally, on Thursday destroyed the signal station and the mine depot.

THE RUSSIAN SHIP AT PORT ARTHUR.

LONDON, March 14.

A Russian telegram despatched from Port Arthur at 7 p.m. on Sunday denies that the port has been abandoned.

SINKING OF THE STEREGUSTCHI.

LONDON, March 14.

Captain Asai, who was in command of the Japanese torpedo-boat destroyer Sutoruguchi in the engagement with Russian torpedo-boat destroyers off Port Arthur on the 10th instant, would have rescued many of the Russians from the sinking torpedo-boat destroyer Sutoruguchi but for the proximity of the Russian cruiser Norik and the deadly fire of the shore batteries.

March 15.

Only four men were rescued from the Sutoruguchi. A number of dead were ashore. It is surmised that 40 men jumped overboard and were drowned.

JAPAN'S AMBITION.

NO DESIGN ON MANCHURIA.

PREVENTION OF RUSSIAN DOMINATION.

LONDON, March 15.

Baron Suyematsu, who is the Plenipotentiary of Japan to Europe to place before the nations the case for Japan, has arrived at London.

In the course of an interview Baron Suyematsu stated that the Japanese desired Manchuria to remain an integral part of China.

The future of the Manchurian railway would depend upon circumstances. If Japan was successful, the line would be useless to Russia for military purposes.

Japan would do her work in such a way that she would secure peace for at least some decades.

SURGERY IN WAR.

STEEL SPLINTERS IN A MAN'S BODY.

LONDON, March 15.

One of the men who was wounded on the Russian cruiser Varag had 165 steel splinters scattered through his body. Ruptured rays were used to locate the splinters and remove them.

A WAR CORRESPONDENT INJURED.

LONDON, March 15.

Mr. F. A. Mackenzie, the war correspondent of the "Daily Mail" at Chelumpho, has had both his legs broken by his pony falling on him.

JAPANESE CONFIDENCE.

LONDON, March 14.

Japanese Government bonds are quoted at Tokio 7 per cent, above the London quotations. The difference is attributed to bondholders' confidence as to the result of the war.

RUSSIA AND SUBMARINES.

LONDON, March 14.

The Japanese newspapers, commenting on the report that Russia is sending a submarine vessel overland, recall the resolution submitted by the Czar to the Hague Conference to the effect that submarines were contrary to civilised warfare.

COMMENTS ON THE SITUATION.

March 15.

The Russians deny that they are abandoning Port Arthur. That is doubtless accurate as far as the majority of the Russians are concerned, but the reach of the coast must be considered. In other respects the cables received up to midnight disclosed little of interest, so far as new light on the disposition of troops is concerned. If the report be correct that a large force landed some time ago at Possiet Bay, south of Vladivostok, with intent on Kirin, where there is a Russian concentration, something should shortly be heard from that quarter of a Russian attack, leading up to an attack on Kirin itself.

Whatever may be the state of Port Arthur, and it seems to be in critical danger of isolation, there is no question that the Japanese are displaying the highest qualities of naval skill in their lengthy and effective bombardment. Certain cruisers were detached eastward, and from that advantageous position signalled to the rest of the squadron the effect of the shells they dropped on the coast. That was the only British opinion, and we are to believe in the humanitarism of the Japanese. The details showed that there would have been ample time for the Japanese to land. The Russian crew who had not jumped overboard when the capture was inevitable. The Japanese had the greater opportunity of impressing the world with their humane treatment of captured foes, claim to have drawn expressions of gratitude from the handful of wounded survivors. There is no reason to doubt the humanity of the Japanese—they proved their warlike tolerance in the way in which they treated their prisoners.

The latest known of the Japanese was an alleged attempt to cut off Port Arthur by landing on the west coast. After all, it was little more than a rumour, but the probabilities are in that direction. They would be hotly received. Port Arthur, with its outlying defences extending up to Taliwan, and notable for the narrow strip where the promontory connects with the mainland, has a garrison of about 35,000 men. About 10,000 of them have been detached to guard the railway, and their places were lately taken by four of the new regiments of East Siberian Guards. In this quarter the Russians would be fighting for the nation's honour, for that certainly is largely compassed in by the fortifications of Port Arthur. Further news will relieve what is an acute tension to those who are following the movements.

MESSAGE TO THE CONSUL GENERAL.

The Acting Consul-General for Japan in Sydney yesterday received the following despatch from the Consul-General of the Russian destroyers Sutoruguchi on the 10th inst., from Admiral Togo's report:—

"When the Sutoruguchi was captured there was no one on board excepting those who had been killed, the survivors having all jumped overboard. The Japanese sailors made every effort to rescue the struggling and drowning men, but were unable to do so, and the approach of the Nippon prevented them from saving more than four. Of these one was a torpedo mechanic, and the other three were sailors, and two were wounded. The prisoners were given medical treatment, and are recovering. They speak in grateful terms of the kindness of their captors."

A GREAT SURPRISE.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, March 15.

The war between Japan and Russia has of course overshadowed everything else this week. It is curious how sceptical many of the best informed people here were as to a simple division of territories in Manchuria. Alas! the despatch, so far as we are concerned, announced the destruction of the warships at Port Arthur. The "man in the street" believed that there was going to be trouble, because he read much about it in the sensational evening newspapers, but at the clubs and in what are generally known as the "smart" circles there was always a certain contempt with which quite sanguine relatives believed that both sides were playing a game of "chess." I feel pretty sure from certain letters which I have seen from people who are resident at St. Petersburg that the Russians did believe this of the Japanese up to the last. They thought that the "Japs," encouraged by European and American naval experts, were simply giving themselves airs, as in similar circumstances the Chinese might have done, so the Czar went on with his dreams of universal peace, and the Russian Colossus took extremely little heed of what the statements of "chess" were.
